ANNUAL CONVENTION.

A Busy Afternoon With the White Ribbons at North Church.

Over two hundred members were in attendance at the second day's session of the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union, which is being held in the North Congregational church, on Thursday. The visitors are receiving the most courteous attention by our citizens and the session is proving one of the liveliest and most interesting for years.

At 8:30 o'clock on Thursday morning the day's services commenced with a consecration meeting led by Mrs. M. E.
O'Neil of Greenland. At nine came the roll call and minutes of the recording secretary, following which came appointment of committees, reports of treasurer, reports of superintendents and brief remarks on various topics by Miss C. E.
Rowell of Franklin, agent for the United States Outlook, Mrs. S. P. Nichols of North Wear on Peace and Arbitration, a paper on Purity by Mrs. J. H. Bliss of Franklin; Sunday School Work, Miss M. D. Plummer of Manchester; Prison, Jail and Almshouse Work, Mrs. E. P.
Sanders, Milford; Narcotics, Mrs. A.
F. Fuller of Plaistow. A beautiful solo by Miss Simpson of this city was also a feature of the exercises.

At 11:30 o'clock, came the memorial services to Miss Frances Willard, the noble leader of the white ribbon work in this country. The address was by Mrs.
Helen G. Rice of Boston, and was a fitting tribute to the worth of a grand woman and tireless worker. Following this came a memorial service to Mrs.
Addie Heath, late president of the Belknap county union.

A brief business session followed and at its close the delegates were invited to the chapel where dinner was served by the ladies of the North church society.
At two o'clock the convention was again called to order and the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. C. N.
Tilton of Newmarket. At 2:30 came the roll call and the exercises then continued in the following order:

Minutes of last session.
Report of president of Mercy Home trusttees, Mrs. C. R. Wendell.
Report of treasurer of Mercy Home trusttees, Miss L. G. Mack.
Music.
Report of L. T. L. work, Miss Annie Ruddick, Haverhill.
Short address, Mrs. Helen G. Rice, Boston, Mass.

Question Box.
Thursday evening's programme included:
7:45 Opening Exercises.
Presentation of Banners.
Music.

Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, Kansas City, Mo.
The evening session was largely attended and the church was well filled with the members of the various church societies, all anxious to hear the scholarly address given by Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman, of Kansas City Mo., on "The Reason Why." She took the stand that woman had to suffer more than man, that the slave owners suffered more than the slave, etc. She made all of her points clear and kept her audience thoroughly interested throughout.

The church altar presented an attractive appearance with the various banners from the various branches of the Union tastefully arranged, and the session was full of interest.

All reports show the union to be in a most flourishing condition, and spiritually and financially strong and well doing, and the coming year grand results are anticipated from the efforts of its members.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

More Interesting Exercises at the W.
C. T. U. Convention

At the W. C. T. U. state convention in the North church today, the exercises of the forenoon were opened by a prayer and praise service led by Mrs.
M. E. Fogg, Seabrook, after which the convention was called to order and the roll call read, followed by the reading of the minutes of the recording secretary.

Mrs. J. H. Robbins of Concord addressed the convention on "Legislation" and an interesting essay on scientific temperance instruction was read by Mrs. Thornton Pike, Newfields.
The subject of temperance literature was reviewed by Mrs. Urania Bowers of Nashua, and was very instructive.

The plan of evangelistic work was outlined by Mrs. S. G. Fletcher of Manchester. A fine musical program followed Mrs. Fletcher's remarks, and the work of electing state officers and the appointment of state superintendents was performed. Delegates to the national convention were also elected.

At 11:30 there was a Bible reading by Mrs. A. B. Jones, Manchester; at 12 there was a noonday prayer, followed by miscellaneous business. Adjournment was made at 12:30 to 2 o'clock when the devotional exercises at the opening were led by Mrs. A. F. Fuller of Plaistow.

At 2:15 the convention was again called to order and the arrangements of the afternoon program was as follows:

Reading of minutes; roll-call; report of committee on resolutions; music; reports of superintendents; purity in literature and art, Mrs. J. R. Carpenter, Concord; hygiene and heredity, Dr.
Ellen A. Wallace, Manchester; work among railroad men, Mrs. N. M. Cummings, Hudson; closing service.

Tonight is benefit night and the opening exercises will begin at 7:45.
At the elections in the forenoon the following state officers were chosen: President—Mrs C R Wendell, Dover.
Corresponding secretary—Miss C N Brown, Manchester.
Recording secretary—Mrs C N Abbott, Rochester.
Treasurer—Miss A E McIntire, Exeter.

Vice Presidents, one for each county represented in convention—Cheshire,

Kate H Brown, Whitefield; Grafton, Mrs G W Richardson, East Haverhill;

Merrimack, Mrs G D Colby, Henniker; Rockingham, Miss A E McIntire, Exeter; Strafford, Mrs H B L Perkins,

NOTES OF THE CONVENTION.

All agree that Portsmouth is a delightful place to meet in.

The ladies of the Court Street church prepared the supper given the delegates on Thursday evening.

Rev. L. H. Thayer and the members of the North church society are making things pleasant for the members during their stay.

Mrs. E. P. Kimball, Mrs. W. B.
Smith, Mrs. L. H. Thayer, Mrs. D. F.
Borthwick, Miss Fannie Hancason, had charge of the dinner given on Thursday noon.

The meals for those attending the Women's Christian Temperance Union convention are being served in the Middle Street Baptist Church chapel, where everything has been arranged for their comfort. Mrs. L. E. Staples represents the Middle street church at the meal hour as the meals are given by the various church societies, alternating three one day by three different societies and three the next day.

It Makes 'Em Squirm

It may be interesting to some of the adjoining towns of Kittery and Eliot as well as to others interested in fair play to learn some of the facts involved in the case of Francis Keefe vs. the town clerk of Kittery which has attracted the attention of the local press, and which was heard at Alfred on the fourth instant before Judge Savage of the Supreme Judicial court on a petition for a writ of mandamus.

Several witnesses were present from both towns but upon agreement of counsel all points in the petition were admitted, except the one involving the right of the petitioner, Francis Keefe to an inspection and recount of the ballots at Kittery. Sec 25 of the Australian ballot law among other things provides the ballots shall be secured, sealed and sent to the several city, town and plantation clerks and by them be preserved for six months as a public record.

The petition for the mandamus is based upon the construction of the words "As a public record" and this only was the question involved in the hearing. Judge Savage was a member of the senate subcommittee which drafted this section of the ballot law and stated in court that he had no hesitancy in saying what was in his own mind at the time the bill was drawn because this particular clause was drawn by himself and he believes the petitioner Francis Keefe has the right to inspect the ballots, they being a "public record" and he being an interested party.

Counsel for the town clerk of Kittery informed the court that he should take the case to the Chief Justice. The court announced that it would make ruling and therefore ordered a writ of mandamus to be issued forthwith; exception were noted and counsel granted thirty days in which to file its argument in writing.

In view of the above facts the question naturally arises. Why is such a strenuous attempt being made to frustrate an honest effort to ascertain the true facts of the case?

The statement was made in a local organ that Mr Staples was glad that the case had been taken up so that a recount could be had and yet when the court orders that the ballots be produced, an appeal is taken to prevent it.

Just why the attempt is made to give the public a false impression about the result of the case by certain individuals in Kittery is a mystery.

THE MAINE HUNTING SEASON

Sportsmen from All Sections Flocking to the Woods There

The hunting season in Maine has opened propitiously and resident and foreign sportsmen are flocking into the woods. Birds, deer and other game is reported to be plenty in all sections of Franklin county, and it seems likely that this year will surpass all previous records. The act is taken as an argument for the protective fish and game legislation now in force, and the game commissioners have recently issued a question book and mailed it to several thousand sportsmen and residents of the hunting sections asking for their opinions as to the advisability of bringing additional protective measures before the next legislature of the state, and what would prove of the most advantage.

The many fatal accidents which were a feature of the early season last year have caused such apprehension among green hunters, and as no frosts have as yet retarded the heavy foliage of the woods the danger from the careless and over eager, armed with far-reaching rifles remains as acute as ever.

PHILIP J. SIMPSON.

The marriage of Herbert Orman Prime, a prominent young business man of this city, and a member of the firm of Gray and Prime, local dealers, to Miss Harriet Simpson, was solemnized at the home of the bride in Newfields, Thursday afternoon.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and hydrangeas, while the ceremony was performed in the spacious parlor which was transformed into a perfect bower of flowers and plants.

The bride, in a beautiful white satin gown, with a Brussels net veil carried up with orange blossoms and a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Caroline Blanche Wendell of Seabrook as maid of honor.
Miss Wendell was arrayed in a creation of yellow tulle over yellow organdie and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev.
W. H. Trickey, pastor of the Claremont Universalist church. Mr. Charles W.
Gray, business partner of the groom, officiated as best man, and the following well known young men acted as ushers:
J. Fred Simpson, J. W. Newell, George B. Lord.

Following the ceremony came an informal reception during which a dainty wedding luncheon was served. At the outing of the wedding cake, Miss Ida Foote of this city was found to be the fortunate possessor of the piece containing the ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Prime were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents, and certainly start out in their new life under most favorable circumstances.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for a extended tour through New York state, Niagara Falls and other points of interest. On their return they will take up their residence at 61 Union street in this city, and will be at home after January 4th.

Among those present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. E. B.
Prime, Miss Grace and Antoinette Sides, Captain and Mrs. Lemuel Pope, Jr., H. B. Doan, J. Clifford Simpson, Misses Alice Norton, Ruth Jarvis, Ida Foote, Helen Newell, Herbert F.
Drew; from Greenland, Miss Mary Simpson and Orman Simpson.

The Heart of Maryland
"The Heart of Maryland" will play an engagement at Music hall next Tuesday evening. The latest play of David Belasco has experienced a remarkable record since its first production in New York where it remained for a entire season, drawing an enormous patronage at each performance.
It has been quoted as a very interesting war play in plot and surroundings; the war is only suggested, all smoke and carriage are eliminated from the stage.
"The Heart of Maryland" recently closed a phenomenal engagement of one hundred nights at the Adelphi Theatre, London.

The advance sale of seats for the engagement of this play is gratifying proof, if any was needed, that there are no patrons of the drama quicker to appreciate the merit and more emphatic expression of the approval than those of our theatregoers.

rectly on your Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, tone up the whole system and

ed. For sale at the Globe Grocery Co.'s nearly 3000 were secured.

There will be a gold medal contest

North church at 8 o'clock.

City Solicitor John W. Kelley was former law pupil, John H. Bartlett, Esq., junior member of the firm of Page &

It is generally believed that at least one full battalion of the 1st New Hampshire volunteers will remain in the service. The plan is to take a vote of the regiment to see what per cent. of the men desire to serve out their enlistment.
Such a desire to be excused from service will be benefited to the list of those to be mustered out.

SURRENDER

The Great Comedy War Drama Coming Soon

Written by one of the greatest authors of the present day and presented by one of the prettiest and most charming soubrettes, Miss Katherine Rober, supported by the favorite and famous Lillian Kennedy Company. This play is a bright comedy, full of sensational features, representing all the great Generals of the Spanish American War, at the same time full of the latest songs, medleys and dances of the day.

You Desire Good Health.

There is no doubt that every sick person wants to get well. Nobody wants to be weak and ailing, for the feeling that comes from vigor and vitality is splendid.
Nevertheless, a great many sick people neglect to take advantage of chances to get well that come in their way. Here, however, is a golden opportunity that no sick person can afford to miss. Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass.; the great specialist who cures so many, offers to give the sick advice by mail, free. This is a grand opportunity. Don't delay in taking advan-age of it. You desire good health. Here is the chance to get it.

"A Stranger in New York"

Charles H. Hoyt's best and greatest success, "A Stranger in New York," will be the attraction at Music hall next Thursday evening, when a limited engagement will be opened with all the original favorites in the cast. Since the piece has been given in Boston a great many changes have been made in it, strengthening it in every way and making brisier and breezier a comedy which will be remembered by Portsmouth theatre goers as one of the funniest that that dramatist has ever written. It has had nothing but prosperity since its original production, and the succession which it made in New York last winter is well remembered.

Dooley Admires Chandler

"Spaking about bosses, Hinnissy, do you know that there niver was wan in New Hampshire that could touch Billy Chandler. He's the king pin av the whole shootin' match. It don't make any difference whither he runs the state committee or A P Davis; whither he says goes, and whither he wants he gets."
"He is kin hold the reins tight or loose and drive the whole outfit. He's a man that the Raypublican crowd is afraid av and that's where he gets his pall.
He just like the Irish, Hinnissy; you can't kape em down, and you can't down Bill."

"Whinver the gang thinks they have
'im snowed under, he crawls out the back way and comes round and gives 'em a clout in the neck. He kapes 'em grass all the time, and he kapes the president and Mark Hanna a gasing too."

"Whin he wants to git wan av his friends appointed to ofias he lays low until he gets a cinch on the administration and then he walks up to the Cap'n's ofias and says, 'Mr President, I want you to appoint Charles Quimby superintendent of the county from at North Bossemen, N H, and the commission is forthcomin'."

"But there's wan thing I admire in Bill and that is when he has anything to say he says it and he don't care a rap whither they like it or not, and that's wan thing I can't understand, Hinnissy. He spakes in public and writes editorial in his Monitor continually for bimself and tells his adherents that we must have it my way; either by local opinion or international agreement, and they applaud him and say 'good bhoey Billy, and call him a smart man; but when Billy Bryan has anything to say on the subject of tray silver the Raypublican party in general and the Monitor in particular call him an anarchist and a day rake."

"But, Hinnissy, I can't for the life av me comprehend why Bill is so struck on free silver when he is so dead set against anything that's free. He's that prjudiced on the subject that he won't ride on a free railroad pass; he won't sind a free tilligan; he won't accept a free pass to the theater, and he won't eat a free lunch. But I suppose he has the satisfaschun av knowin' that he kin rowl the railroads or any other institushun wat gives free passes all he pleases and they can't strike back."

"But didn't Bill ever git a free ride?" asked Hennessey.
"Oh, yis! When he was secretary of the navy he circumnavigated the globe several times on the Tallapoosa at the government's expence, and I am told Hinnissy, that he lost hisshun av good stuff when the old tub went to the bottom av the say, which was too bad and mea sufferin' fer a drink av good liquor."

CONTRASTS IN NAPLES.
Only a step from Royal Magnificence to a Crowd of Half Naked Workers.

One of the strangest contrasts in Naples is to walk from the royal palace, with its fine marble staircase, up the new Corso Re (Victor Emmanuel) to the steep streets around the Church of San Giovanni a Sordani.

These streets are the dwelling places of the dyers, and one steps from regal magnificence into a crowd of semineaked people, who are busily dipping great hanks of cotton or wool into seething caldrons. As elsewhere, the work is carried on in the street, and little streams of water—red, yellow, brown and black—pour over the rough stones and gather in multicolored pools, while on low benches against the walls women are washing clothes, standing in the dirty, soapy water that splashes over from their tubs.

The passersby walk heedlessly through the dyes and sops, while the children find pleasant occupation in throwing mud of every variety of color at anybody who chances to be wearing light-colored garments. It is a veritable feast of color from the merely spectacular point of view, but a visit to these streets leaves a bodily as well as a mental impression.

Very often in the depths of these sordid alleys one comes across a forgotten old palace, built when carriages were unknown. Its great court of honor crowded with booths, its vast halls filled with a heterogeneous collection of men, women and children, fowls, goats, sheep and occasionally a donkey, all living together in the happiest proximity. The massive old walls are hidden beneath centuries of dirt; the woodwork has, for the most part, disappeared; the rooms that once knew the revels of Angevin nobles now shelter the hap-hazard existence of lazzaroni.—Ludgate.

Flora of Nones Ending in "o."
In the formation of the plural of nouns with this ending the general rule is that as is added to the singular, as in potatoes, cabbages, buffaloes, yet the following words add only s: Grotto, jamo, canto, cento, quarto, portico, octavo, duodecimo, tyro, solo (all by the bye, foreign words), and also all nouns ending in o, as folio, folios; or, in fact, whenever o is immediately preceded by a vowel, as cameo, embryo, etc. A notable peculiarity is to be observed with regard to nouns substantive ending with the sound of o. If they be words of more than one syllable, they for the most part end simply in o, but if only of one syllable, they take an e after the o, thus, canto, potato, quarto, hero, but doo, foo, roo, sloo, too, woo, etc. Yet other monosyllables, not nouns substantive, have no final o, as so, lo, no.—Literature of Typography.

It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at the Globe Grocery Co.'s store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Trade in Dry Goods—Boots and Shoes. Produce Quotations.

Boston, Oct. 6.—There are not many new features to note in the market situation this week. The jobbing trade holds out well, and large quantities are being distributed, though mostly in the cheaper lines. This refers principally to the demand from New England dealers, whose customers are not in a position to buy expensive articles. The goods from the west embraced a large variety of goods, and some of the best grades of dress fabrics have gone in that direction.

The retail stores yesterday were very poorly patronized, owing to the rain storm, and trade during the previous two days was injured by the high temperature. Several attractive openings were arranged for yesterday, and the few people who ventured out were well repaid for the discomforts of the weather. The displays of fine millinery, garments, dresses, material and other fall goods are still a distinguishing feature, and cause more or less uneasiness. It was supposed last week that a settlement of the difficulties would speedily be made, but it now appears to be as far off as ever. The business in Brockton, it is feared, will be somewhat curtailed for several weeks.

As the shoe prices are steady, but it is said that some of the large manufacturing companies have been enabled to shade slightly on shoes on account of having bought leather at a concession from quoted rates. This has unsettled the market a little, but it will not lead to any general decline, because the leather dealers are willing to admit that they are ready to sell at any lower rates than those ruling for some time past.

BOSTON PRODUCE MARKET.

Flour.—The flour market is again easier. The prices marked down.

The latest quotations of the flour committee are: Spring wheat, clear, $2.03 1/2; straight, $2.02 1/2; patent, $2.05 1/2; straight, $2.04 1/2; patent, $2.07 1/2.

Pork and Lard.—Pork and lard are steady, with a fair demand. Barrel of lard, 14c; fresh ribs, 9c; hams, 9c; lard, 5c; pork, 6c; lard, 5c.

There is no change to note in cornmeal. Oatmeal is steady and unchanged. Barrel cornmeal, $1.70 1/2; bag meal, 14c; yellow granulated, 12c.

Hay—Hay is dull and easy; straw quiet, millfeed firm. Hay, $5 1/2; straw, 1c; millfeed, 1c; rye straw, 1c.

Onions.—Onions are firm, with higher prices being asked. Fancy heavy, 3c; No. 2, 2c; No. 3, 1c.

Beans.—Beans are steady and unchanged. Black, 1c; white, 1c; kidney, 1c.

Refined sugar, 14c; white sugar, 14c; western fresh, 15c.

PARTING WORDS.

Governor Grant Addresses Vermont Legislature Upon Retiring from Office.

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 6.—Upon retiring from office today, Governor Grant delivered his customary address, a paper which evidenced his close familiarity with state affairs.

After referring to the matter of state expenses, stating that in Vermont the burdens of government are as light as in any other, in the Union and very much less than in many, Governor Grant took up the question of double taxation and revenue, saying:

The added double taxation arises from an inequality in the basis of levy growing out of the fact that a portion of the debtor class is taxed on more property than it is worth, a man's worth being the net of his possessions after deducting what he owes. And this is because this class is not allowed to offset debts against real estate.

The exact point of claim in this matter is between the mortgage and mortgage of real estate. The mortgage, in those cases where the real estate stands, pays the taxes, and the mortgagee, while the taxes may have been paid, and above his personal property appraised, which if applied against his real estate would reduce his taxable list. This is not paying, twice, but rather paying on what a man does not own, for his property real and personal alike, in a sense, belongs to his creditors until his debts are paid.

The mortgagee presumably pays on the notes, which are distinct assets from the realty, and so one tax only is paid by him.

The real plea in this matter is in behalf of that portion of the debtor class who hold real estate, and they would be relieved from this injustice if an offset against real estate were allowed. This class could also be relieved and the real estate values taxed in the state by taxing the mortgage notes in the town where the real estate is located, allowing the mortgagee to pay the tax and deduct it from the interest and also allowing him to offset his debts against real estate. This plan would save the great bulk of the state from change, while a simple offset against real estate would doubt materially change the list, but it would be a direct remedy.

Allowing the mortgagee to pay and deduct as suggested, would tend to change money from towns paying heavy taxes to those less heavily burdened, but this could be practically avoided by fixing the tax on such notes in all the towns alike and at the average for the state.

The subject of education is then treated at length, and prison and prison reform received considerable attention. Governor Grant holds that education is the foundation of reformation, and that we should no longer consider our criminals as a source of revenue, but as unfortunate men and women, with souls to save and characters to rebuild.

The people of this state, he said, donate annually thousands of dollars to prepare the hearts of law-abiding heathens in foreign lands for communion with the great heart of hearts, but we give nothing to lift up the hearts of an unfortunate class we always have with us, called criminals.

Governor Grant suggested the appointment of a board of directors to ascertain deserving cases, as they appear from prison discipline and in the school work of the prisoners, which also should be authorized to recommend these cases for such conditional executive clemency as may seem advisable, and a board of prison survivors should be created charged with the duty of knowing through the sheriff and other public officers of the state, the faith with which such convicts keep the terms of their release, and to finally recommend full pardon to all whose lives prove then worthy of restoration to citizenship.

Other state questions were then taken up, and the history of the militia before and during the war was given, with high praise for the efficiency shown by the Vermont men and their ready response to the call of the president. In leaving the militia topic, Governor Grant said that it has cost from $25,000 to $30,000 a year to maintain the present system. Exclusive of the $7 extra pay to the enlisted men, the expense incurred by the state in preparing the regiment for the United States service was about $20,000, all of which becomes a claim against the general government.

The governor advocated the establishment of a state camp ground, better roads and a compulsory test for tuberculosis among cattle. He characterized the system of granting legislative honors as a serious and vexatious abuse, and the novel of a realistic Belfry scene, "Strong Situations, Exciting Climaxes."

NOT ALL UNIFORM

Considerable Difference Noted in Some of the American Flags Displayed

All of the American flags hung in the breeze during the Spanish-American war combined the tri-colors after the accepted idea, but some of the most expensive ones were not made according to the regulation measurements that call for 13 stripes, seven red and six white stripes alternating, beginning with the red, says an exchange. The flag is then 13 stripes in width, and the length should equal the width of 21 stripes. The blue field in the upper corner should occupy a square space equal on each side to the width of seven stripes, and should contain white stars, one of each state in the union. In selecting or in making a flag these measurements should be kept in mind, since it is not admissible to depart from them even to the fraction of an inch. It is good to see so many flags flying nowadays and even if they are tattered and torn still their meaning is clear.

SERENADED.

Candidate for governor on the people's ticket, Gardner J. Greenleaf, and Mrs. Greenleaf, whose marriage was announced in Thursday's Herald, were serenaded on Thursday evening by numerous friends, headed by a calumpanian band of huge dimensions and powerful lungs. Long before the ovation was ended everyone within a mile of Post-office square had stuffed cotton in his or her ears to keep out the horrible din. Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf were not long in swinging open the portals of their hospitable home and begging the serenaders to come in out of the night air. The invitation was promptly accepted and choice refreshments were liberally served to the happy callers. After an hour spent in pleasant conversation and congratulations to the host and hostess and with many wishes for their prosperity the serenaders departed and the city resumed its wonted quiet.

Died at the Hospital

The body of Mrs. Susan S. Purington, wife of Ivan T. Purington, was taken to Exeter Thursday. Mrs. Purington was brought to the Cottage hospital for treatment for a tumor about a week ago, but all efforts to save her life proved fruitless and she died at the institution Wednesday night. Mrs. Purington was born in Portsmouth 56 years ago, the daughter of John and Ann Marden. She married Mr. Purington and soon after she removed to Exeter, where she had since resided. She was a member of the Unitarian church and had always been one of the most active members of the society. Besides a widower, she leaves three children, Lucian B. of New York and Misses Winifred L. and Etta F., both of Exeter. The funeral will be held at the home on South street Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock the Rev. Edward Green officiating.

MUNICIPAL.

An adjourned meeting of the board of mayor and aldermen on the hearing of the petitioners for widening Middle street, was held in the city rooms on Thursday evening, with the full board present.

The records of the preceding meeting were read and then the mayor said the meeting was open to any of the petitioners or abutters who wished to be heard.

Mr. W. L. Conlon addressed the board as one of the interested parties and said that although he thought it would be a good scheme to widen the road, still it would not personally do him any good. He was willing though to sacrifice a strip of land from his lot providing the city save the shade trees and reimburse him at the rate of ten cents a foot for the land taken.

Messrs. Harry E. Boynton and I. H. Washburn, two other abutters, took the same view as did Mr. Conlon and thought ten cents a foot for land taken a fair price.

Mr. Washburn also thought it would be a good plan for the city to find out just how much the abutters would voluntarily give in order to have the street widened.

There are only five abutters and Ald. Gray thought the matter ought to lay over another week to look into it more thoroughly. On his motion the matter was left in this way and it was voted to adjourn on this week.

It was afterwards suggested that Ald. Hoyt be authorized to lay out several routes and submit them at the next meeting. On motion of Ald. Yeaton the board proceeded to elect inspection officers for the coming election and the following gentlemen whose names were handed in by the several ward committees were elected:

WARD ONE.
George R. Palfrey, democrat.
Charles H. Kehoe, democrat.
Arion A. Ballou, republican.
Fred L. Martin, republican.

WARD TWO.
Thomas J. Donovan, democrat.
John McCann, democrat.
Edmund W. Brown, republican.
Edward W. Gray, republican.

WARD THREE.
William Cogan, democrat.

Caylon Spencey, republican.
George R. Newick, republican.

WARD FOUR.
Willard M. Gray, democrat.
Horace A. Mudge, democrat.
Charles W. Humphreys, republican.
David Urich, republican.

WARD FIVE.
Daniel J. Lynch, democrat.
Daniel J. Barrett, democrat.
Fred H. Fuller, republican.
George S. Chandler, republican.

In ward four there were two sets of names handed in, one signed by Joshua M. Vaughan, chairman, and the other by Oliver H. Locke, chairman, but the board recognized the latter.

Ald. Gray called the board's attention to the condition of the crosswalk near the Haven school and on motion of Ald. Yeaton the matter was referred to the committee on streets, with power.

On motion of Ald. Bates the board adjourned.

POLICE COURT

One Drunk and a Larceny Case Before Judge Emery Today.

Patrick Claffey a marine was before Judge Emery in police court this forenoon and pleaded guilty to drunkenness on Ceres street last evening. He was given a suspended fine of $5 and costs of prosecution taxed at $6.13.

Charles H. Vail, a surveyor employed in the construction of the electric railroad was also arraigned on the complaint of John Haurian, a laborer in the same gang, for the larceny of a watch valued at $15 and a chain valued at $3, the property of Haurian. Vail pleaded not guilty, but on the testimony of the owner of the property and the police, who found the watch in Connell's jewelry store, where it had been pawned for $1, the court ordered the respondent to furnish sureties for his appearance at the October term of the supreme court.

The watch was stolen from the pocket of Haurian's vest, left hanging in a closet of Mrs. Rand's boarding house on Daniel street. The two men roomed together there. The watch was not missed until this morning.

A Couple of Accidents

Edward Clough a workman in the spar shop at the navy yard, met with an accident on Thursday afternoon which will cost him his left thumb. He was working a surface or buzz planer when his thumb got caught and was immediately severed. He was immediately taken to the hospital and the wounded hand dressed.

Little Frank, the 5-year-old son of Mr. Frank Booms of the Republican office, was run over by the heavy rail-carrying truck of the street railway contractor on Jefferson street. The lad was ridged on the truck and fell off, one of the heavy wheels passing over and severely bruising his left leg, but breaking no bones.

A blessing alike to young and old; Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, Nature's specific for dysentery, diarrhea and summer complaint.

The bride appeared in a traveling costume of brown broadcloth with hat to match, and made a graceful picture. She was unattended. The informal reception following the ceremony was a manifest evidence of the high esteem in which each contracting party is held, this, too, finding expression in the extensive and choice tribute of gifts.

After the serving of bridal dainties and amidst the showering of happiest omens, Mr. and Mrs. Beals left on the afternoon train for a brief wedding trip, and will be at home after November first at No. 11 Court street.

Included among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. William Beals, parents of the groom, Mr. Edward M. Beals, brother, and wife, of Boston, and Miss Nellie Melcher of Hingham, Mass., cousin of the bride.
